JUDGE BLACK has returned home, and is equipped for the most agreeable fight of his life.

THE Republican papers in the North do not seem to be inclined to take up cases like the following: The managing editor of the San Antonio (Texas) Express was assaulted in his office by WESLEY OGDEN, ex-Supreme Justice of Texas and Deputy United States Collector of customs. The action at which Judge OGDEN took umbrage was written in a humorous vein, but indirectly charged the Judge with giving to a newspaper reporter at the Chicago convention an account of the terribly intolerant spirit here against Northern men. OGDEN is a prominent Republican. Were he a Democrat there would be a terrible flourishing of the bloody shirt.

SECRETARY SHERMAN was interrupted in his speech at Cincinnati by some one who asked him why he removed ARTHUR from the Custom House. A move was thereupon made to expel the man that asked the troublesome question from the audience, but at the speaker's instance he was allowed to remain, and Mr. SHERMAN then answered that ARTHUR was removed for incompetency and not for dishonesty. We do not justify the interruption under the circumstances, but we are glad of its result, all the same. Confessed "incompetency" in the charge of a Custom House ought to be a good enough reason for not electing a man to an office from which he may be called to the oversight of the entire Government, in the event of the death of the person elected President.

THE coming oyster season gives promise of being the most successful in many years owing to the prime condition of the succulent bivalves in all the beds in the vicinity of New York and elsewhere. On Monday the oystermen from the six great beds at Tottenville, Morris Cove, the Great Kills, Rockaway, Princess Bay and Bow Bay were in New York for the purpose of receiving orders from the almost innumerable firms engaged in the trade, and to make preparations for the shipment of the first installment of the season. Mr. E. P. Manne, one of the largest oyster growers at Tottenville, said that in all his experience he had never seen the oysters of Princess Bay looking finer than now. Last year, for some reason unaccountable to the men in the trade, this favorite brand of oysters developed poorly. The same was true in respect to Rockaways and Morris Coves. The result was that about every other oysterman identified in their sale was out of pocket. Mr. P. Statham, from the Morris Cove grounds, gave quite as encouraging reports from the beds out that way. Not only were the Morris Coves large, fat and of good flavor, but the yield, he said, would be prolific.

To Decent Republicans.

REPUBLICANS!—we do not address the Bloody Shirtists—Republicans, honest, decent citizens, men of business, fathers and brothers, and members of moral societies, just read the following. Remember, it is the utterance of Judge SWAYNE, a Republican Judge of the Supreme Court of the United States:

"The agreement with General GARFIELD, a member of Congress, to pay him five thousand dollars as a contingent fee for procuring a contract which was itself made to depend upon a future appropriation of Congress—which appropriation could only come from a Committee of which he was Chairman—was a sale of official influence, which no veil can cover, against the plainest principles of public policy. No counselor-at-law while holding high office has a right to put himself in a position of temptation, and under pretence of making a legal argument, exert his official influence upon public officers dependent upon his future action. Certainly the courts of justice will never lend themselves to enforce contracts obtained by such influence."

The Truth Precisely.

From Thomas A. Hendricks' recent speech.

Garfield's nomination means the endorsement and approval in the most positive and offensive manner possible of the Presidential fraud of 1876-7. He had more to do with it than any other man, and was the only man who occupied toward it a double relation. After the election Garfield went to New Orleans by request of Gen. Grant, without authority of law, as a partisan. He went there to assist his party in making up a case, and after his return to Washington, of all his associates he was the only man who took his seat upon the Electoral Commission. By every sentiment of fair play he should have been excluded from the jury box. By his own sworn statement of what he did in New Orleans, Garfield had charge of the returns from West Feliciana Parish. In one of the inner rooms of Packard's Cus on House he did his work, examined the affidavits, and when they were not sufficiently full, he prepared or had prepared additional interrogatories to bring them within the rules adopted by the Returning Board. The testimony so received by Garfield went back to the Returning Board, and the result was that West Feliciana with its Democratic majority was thrown out. In Washington, Garfield's vote was that Congress could not go behind the returns thus made. As agent for his party he helped to make returns by manipulating the evidence; and as jurymen for the nation he held such evidence as conclusive and binding.

Rough on the Republican Party.
THE Republican party is really to be pitied in this campaign, it has so much to contend against.

First. It has a fresh record of twenty years staring it in the face, and they have been years of unparalleled political corruption. Those years embrace the war period, when office-holders vied with each other to live in vulgar splendor and amass unlawful gains; a disgraceful onslaught on a President of its own choosing; the terrible stain of the reconstruction policy; a state of war forced on the South under the guise of peace; fraudulent State governments supported by military force; the clank of sword and spear in the halls of State Legislatures; the degradation of the Federal judiciary, from the packing of the Supreme Court down to midnight judicial orders in the South; the manufacture of Southern outrages from scant material and the prodding of the Southern people to desperation; the manifold scandals of Grantism, including the Leet and Stocking frauds in New York, the whiskey ring exposures laying bare corruption in the White House, the monumental disgrace of a Secretary of War, the fraudulent contracts of a Secretary of the Navy, the shameful transactions of a Secretary of the Interior and the unprecedented stealing in the Indian Service; the champion Presidential swindle of 1876—the blackest crime in the history of free government; the rewarding of all the thieves who helped to steal the Presidency; the disgraceful flop on civil service reform, brought about by an equally disgraceful wrangle between the party and its President; the conspiracy to force a third term on the people.

Second. The failure of the Republican party to advance a single step since the war, presenting no new issues and clinging to the old and dead. The Republican party was born of aggression; it cannot thrive on inaction.

Third. A vigorous Democracy, full of life and hope and work, making a gigantic struggle for a last chance, and conceding to public opinion what it demands.

Fourth. The unassailable and brilliant record of the Democratic candidate.

Fifth. The weakness and bad odor of its own candidate.

Sixth. The Greenback ticket, which is worrying it in spots.

It must be admitted that this is a bad exhibit for a party which has got in the way of office-holding and has no other visible means of support. There are many excellent but misguided men in the Republican party, and it is a pity that they are enlisted in a movement which seems predestined to fail. If these good citizens will come out before the prop are knocked from under they will save themselves and find an hospitable welcome in good company. "Now is the accepted time."

Arrested for Murder.

New York, August 31.—James Costigan, Thomas Turney and Walter Best are under arrest on the charge of being the persons who killed Lawyer Harwood, in Brooklyn, Saturday night. The fourth person is sought for but the police believe they have the principals.

It is expected that the earnings of the Pennsylvania railroad this fiscal year will reach $40,000,000, and that the actual net earnings will be at the rate of more than 20 per cent. on the capital stock.

TOLEDO.

The Army of the Cumberland—A Large Field of Noted Trotters.

Toledo, Sept. 1.—The meeting of the society of the Army of the Cumberland here on the 22d and 23d of September promises to be very largely attended. Generals Grant, Sheridan, Garfield and others have signified their intention to be present, and a favorable response to a special invitation is expected from Gen. Hancock and others.

The entries for the Fall meeting of the trotting association in connection with the fair commencing September 13th, will close to-night. A large field of noted trotters is already assured.

Pretty Night-Gowns.

A correspondent of the Chicago Times, writing from the island of Mount Desert, on the coast of Maine, says:

"The West End is at present the nucleus of fashion. There the women dress for dinner and undress for evening, and go to bed, I am told, in such elaborate night-gowns that their husbands stand in awe of them, when they have husbands. They probably frighten Morpheus, when they had no mortal fear, by the splendor of what they call these nocturnal robes. Night-gowns sell in New York for $200 to

Dr. Harter's FEVER AGUE SPECIFIC

Rev. F. HACKWORTH, Supt. German Protestant Orphans' Home, St. Charles Rock Road, St. Louis, Mo., writes, April 20th, 1877, says: "Dr. Harter's Fever and Ague Specific is a positive cure for Chills and Fever, has never failed with us."

Mr. J. C. WELLS, of Keosauqua, Ill., says: "I cured a little girl of Ague of three years' standing, with Dr. Harter's Fever and Ague Specific, after the best physicians failed to benefit her."

"This reminds me of a young Bostonian who married a New York girl last winter. They went abroad on a bridal trip for six months, and, coming home, one of his acquaintances meeting him, said, jocularly: 'Well, my dear boy, I suppose you are delighted with your pretty wife. You think her a radiant goddess, no doubt. Men always do have extravagant notions of their wives the first year of marriage.'"

"The Bostonian smiled rather drearily as he replied, 'Well, the fact is my wife has too many clothes for every possible occasion, and they are all of such resplendent pattern that my time has been mainly taken up in admiring them. I have not got really acquainted with my wife yet. But I dare say that, in the course of a year or so, I shall get down to the actual woman. Devilish queer creatures women are, ain't they?'"

THE QUIRKS OF FASHION.

The Little Items That Go to Make the Ladies Attractive.

Buttons on boots worn with fancy costumes match those on the suit.

Very small bonnets worn on the back of the head are again in vogue.

Petticoats are made wider, to fill the fuller skirts of the dresses now worn.

Laces embroidered with metals will be among imported fall novelties.

Evening dresses are worn at this moment in Paris with high necks and short sleeves.

Cords will play an important part in the trimming of dresses and wraps this fall.

Ladies who have gray hair do not conceal it, using neither dyes, pomaton, nor caps.

Smooth coiffures and flat waves, bangs, and crepe-curl locks are the rule in hair dressing.

It is again fashionable to wear the hair in coils, in which strings of pearls are twisted.

New reticules to match dresses are richly trimmed with gathered lace, cords, and tassels.

Natural or very fine artificial flowers are worn in the hair, to match those worn in the corsage.

Low coiffures are must in favor, but short women, or those with round faces, still wear the hair dressed high.

Fancy reticules, worn at the elbow, are decorated with all kinds of metallic and enamel insects and reptiles.

Two corsage bouquets are worn, one on the left side of the neck, the other far back and high on the left side of the neck.

New night-robes have large, full sleeves shirred in at the armhole, and shirred also at the wrist to a narrow embroidered cuff.

High coiffures are no longer formed by braids or puffs, but with soft waves of hair arranged in loops on the crown of the head.

Fichu collarettes are worn by elder young ladies, while misses in their teens affect large square collars, such as little children wear.

While long-waisted corsets, with Vandikes back and rom, are worn in Paris, the tendency is toward the short waists and belts of the First Directory period.

Some of the new basques are cut long and square in front, with a pocket on each side of this square; the backs of such basques are short and cut to form two points.

All Sorts of Paragraphs.

Mrs. C. Loesch, of Plymouth, Ind., is on a visit to her son, Mr. George Loesch, the druggist.

The Misses Fowler, of Detroit, Michigan, are visiting their brother, Mr. W. J. Fowler, of the Mail. The young ladies are en route to Sherman Texas.

Marriage Licenses were issued by Clerk Spencer this morning to the following persons: Daniel Shordon and Augustine Joly; William Stouder and Julia Schane; Adam Seifert and Louisa Hautsch.

There was considerable promiscuous shooting on Calhoun street last night, which will be duly inquired into by the city authorities, and if it be possible to ferret out the guilty parties they will be summarily punished.

Mr. E. L. Cothrell, who will act as city circulator for the Kansas City Star, Nelson & Mors' new paper, has already together with his assistants secured over fifteen hundred subscribers. He expects to run the circulation up to ten thousand. We wish Ras success, for he's a square boy.

Warrants have been issued for the arrest of a bevy of urchins who have been engaged for sometime past in making nocturnal visits to the premises of Joseph Singmaster and a neighbor, who reside in the West end of the city, and depleting their hen roosts. The capture of the boys is only a question of time.

James Campbell and wife, the notorious couple who were recently relieve from jail on condition that they would evermore give Fort Wayne a wide berth, it seems have not taken their departure to any considerable extent. They are said to be making a strip of woods near the city their present place of abode, and if such be the case, they will again be gathered in by the officers.

Landers-Porter.

The joint discussion between Hon. Franklin Landers and Judge Porter, the Democratic and Republican candidates respectively for Governor of Indiana, will take place in the Court House yard to-morrow evening should the weather be such as to permit of outdoor speaking. The arrangements for the event have about all been completed, and the indications point strongly to an immense gathering that will be composed of men of all political opinions. We trust that the meeting will be characterized by a spirit of good will and friendliness that is meet on such occasions, and that no one will do anything of which he may feel heartily ashamed upon calm and mature reflection. We hope that every Democrat in the city and surrounding districts will be on the sod to join in the hearty greeting that will be given to Mr. Landers.

An Annoyance to be Remedied.

Heretofore the SENTINEL has been delivered to our city subscribers at too late an hour in the evening, a difficulty, which we feel, we have succeeded in overcoming, and in the future it will be the aim to have it circulated, even to the uttermost parts, in ample time for our patrons to read and discuss its contents along with their supper. The large circulation of the SENTINEL requires the employment of a small army of boys for its delivery to subscribers, and we trust that those of our patrons who may not get their papers promptly and punctually, will report the fact at the business office at once, in order that the matter may be remedied without any vexatious delay.

ORDINANCE OFFENDERS.

Lottie Lee and a Batch of Other Petty Violators of the Law, before Mayor Zollinger.

The violator of the municipal ordinances who was first called to account by Mayor Zollinger this morning, was an aged man named William Smithley, alias "Mountain Bill." It appears that James had gotten outside of an unlimited quantity of the stuff that makes drunk come, and had gently laid himself down at the corner of Water and Clinton streets to take a quiet snooze. Shortly after midnight his sweet slumbers were ruthlessly interrupted by officer Guschung, who toted the aged offender to the calaboose. He was fined $8 and given the alternative of paying the same or spending ten days at work in the enclosure where they manufacture macadam.

Lottie Lee, the "sweet singer of Fort Wayne," has not been an inmate of the calaboose for a period of over a year, but she turned up all right again yesterday afternoon. Lottie's pranks in the past are familiar to the readers of the SENTINEL. Her latest offense consisted of tarrying too long over the wine cup and then making her appearance on Calhoun street and acting in a disgusting and disorderly manner by peering up into the faces of lady and gentlemen passers-by, etc., particularly the et-cetera. She was gathered in by Deputy Marshal Falker and the Mayor demanded of her eight dollars to help lubricate the machinery of the City Government.

"OUT ON A LARK."

After midnight four young men emerged from the Atlantic Garden and by mutual consent started "out on a lark" as it were. Their hilarious conduct was wafted and tossed hither and thither on the midnight breezes as they passed up Calhoun street, and finally the brilliant idea was conceived that they would rent a hack and make a night of it. Repairing to the livery stable of Messrs. Angell & Barnett, on Wayne street, they made known their wishes and were promptly refused a rig owing to their maudlin condition. Then they began committing nuisances and finally wound up into a fight among themselves, in the course of which one of the party was dealt a powerful blow that sent him reeling to the sidewalk. Police Captain Smith was informed of the affair by telephone and in company with officer Rohle at once appeared on the scene which had the effect of causing the young bloods to scamper off. Chase was given and two of the party who gave their names as Bogers and James captured. Not relishing the idea of spending the night in the calaboose one of them deposited a monetary consideration and the other a lot of jewelry for their presence at the hearing this morning. Among the jewelry was a plain gold ring bearing the initials "E. B. C." A third member of the quartette was also present at the hearing. They were fined in sums ranging from ten to twelve dollars each.

Fort Wayne's Pride.

Miss Carrie Johnson, the well known elocutionist who has for some time past, been staying in Boston, under Miss Helen Potter, the renowned proprietress of the "Pleiades," has returned home for a short visit. Miss Johnson is certainly a credit to this city and state; the ardor with which she has prosecuted her studies is indeed wonderful and there is not the least doubt but that some day she will be one of the brightest stars in her chosen profession. Her imitation of bird songs is really wonderful; full in this she is probably unequalled by any lady in America. Her elocutionary powers are great and will carry her to the pinnacle of fame. Miss Johnson will remain but a short time when she will return to Boston. Wherever she may go the SENTINEL extends to her its best wishes and rejoices in the fact that Fort Wayne has at last produced an elocutionist able to cope with the greatest exponents of the art.

THE FREE METHODISTS

Religious Exercises to be Continued Over Sunday.

The Free Methodists who have pitched their tent on the commons east of Calhoun street, in the southern portion of the city, for the purpose of conducting a series of religious meetings, were greeted last evening with a big congregation. Their tent, or tabernacle, is constructed of canvas, and is fashioned after the manner of a circus tent—with two center poles—save that the entire lower portion is open, with the single exception of that portion directly in the rear of the speaker's stand. Back of the pulpit, painted in black letters on white muslin, are to be seen the words, "Holiness Unto the Lord." The evening sermon was delivered by Rev. Burlington, from near Columbia City, who based his remarks on the scriptural injunction contained in the words, "Fear God and keep His commandments; for this is the whole duty of man." The reverend gentleman is an enthusiastic servant of the Most High, his discourse evidencing the fact that all his energies are warmly enlisted in the cause of the Master. In a plain and practical manner he entreated the sinner to flee from the wrath to come; to seek repentance and henceforward lead an upright and godly life. The wages of sin being death both temporal and spiritual, the awful doom of the sinner who was ushered into eternity without the loving forgiveness of God was vividly portrayed with all its terrible import.

All the seats under the canvas were occupied, and a sufficient number of persons were to be seen standing outside the tent to have filled a like number of seats twice over. The constant noise and conversation kept up by those outside was a source of great annoyance to Rev. Burlington during the delivery of his remarks. Shortly after the meeting was opened some confusion ensued by the breaking down of one of the seats that had been overweighted by a number of ladies and gentlemen. The series of meetings in all probability will terminate on Sunday night next. We fervently hope that the stay of the Free Methodists in our midst will be productive of great pleasure, and that they may be eminently successful in snatching sinners from their waywardness and wickedness.

MILITARY MARKSMEN.

The Team of the Division of the Pacific Pass Through Fort Wayne.

On the fast line eastward bound last evening, over the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago railway, six officers and ten enlisted men, composing the team of the Military Division of the Pacific, to compete in the matches of the National Association at Creedmoor, N. Y., September 14-16, passed through the city. In conversation with a representative of the SENTINEL while the train tarried at the depot, General John C. Kelton said that the team had come direct from San Francisco, and that the trip thus far had been a most enjoyable one, barring the intense heat in the latter part of the day. He expressed his confidence in the ability of his boys to make a good showing at Creedmoor, and concluded by saying, "You'll hear a good report from us." Following will be found the names of the officers with the party: General John C. Kelton, Assistant Adjutant-General of the Military Division of the Pacific, in charge of the team; First-Lieut. WEAVERS' WEAPONS.

Pitchforks and Stones for Two at Sheldon.

This morning Mr. Benjamin Weaver, an old gentleman who resides at Sheldon, accompanied by his two daughters, arrived in the city, and calling the services of Prosecuting Attorney Hensch into requisition, proceeded to file two affidavits before Mayor Zollinger, against his son, Benjamin F. Weaver, the one charging the degenerate scion with assault and the other with surety of the peace.

The circumstances surrounding the affair may be briefly summed up as follows: It having come to the knowledge of Benjamin Weaver, Jr., that Benjamin Weaver, Sr., so the story goes, had maliciously asseverated that the wife of the former was in the habit of visiting Fort Wayne for the purpose of indulging in "ways that are dark and tricks that are vain," the son became greatly incensed thereat, and with blood in his eye visited the residence of his father for the purpose of cleaning out the entire establishment and throwing the house out of the window. Be that as it may, Benjamin, Jr., succeeded in creating the biggest kind of a racket in a very short time. He applied the vilest of vile epithets to the old man and threatened to kill him. Benjamin, Jr., stood the abuse as long as he felt justified in so doing, and then forboreance ceasing to be a virtue, he procured a pitchfork and proceeded to run his bloodthirsty son out of the family mansion at the speed of about fourteen miles a minute. When the latter had gotten outside of the pale of danger he wheeled around, assumed a bold front and threw a boulder at the old man, who was standing in the doorway, but who closed the door as he did so, the missile striking the frame of the door and registering a deep indentation. It is said to have been the biggest kind of a family rumput, and as the old gentleman is apprehensive lest his son will do him violence he deemed the lodging of the charges before noted as the best possible thing he could do under the circumstances.

Commencing at Fort Wayne

and continuing through the week.

Come prepared to purchase your fall and winter supply of dry goods, carpets, furniture, bedding, sewing machines, crockery, tin ware and house furnishing goods generally, and remember that at

FOSTER BROTHERS

DEPARTMENT STORE,

You can purchase all these goods under one roof, and at prices far below those which dealers in one line of business are compelled to charge in order to meet their expenses.

Foster Brothers' immense establishment is on the east side of the public square, and is one of the institutions that strangers coming to Fort Wayne always desire to visit. It is the largest, best arranged, and most popular retail business establishment in the state of Indiana, and is the pioneer Department Store of the West.

Foster Brothers propose to make their house as well known and as necessary to the people of Indiana as the department store of Macy & Co. is to the citizens of New York.

They have already demonstrated to thousands of people that the one price Department System is the only one which enables a business firm to retail goods at the usual wholesale prices.

They want to see at least 20,000 people at their store during the fair week.
